Domestic Relations - Involuntary Termination of Parental Rights - Adoption

Petitioners, mother and stepfather of twin boys, sought the involuntary termination of the biological father’s parental rights in order for stepfather to pursue adoption proceedings.

Procedural History

On December 2, 2016, Petitioners S.M.L. and J.L.S, filed a Petition for Involuntary Termination of Parental Rights of M.E.S., III, (hereinafter “Father”) the biological father of the subject children, M. E. L. and M.D. L. (DOB 8/20/08), along with a Petition for Adoption, which was later supplemented. A hearing was set for January 20, 2017. At the hearing, Father stated he was not able to find counsel and would represent himself. Nevertheless, the court sua sponte granted a continuance to allow Father to contact Mid Penn Legal Services and the Dauphin County Bar Association to retain counsel and rescheduled the matter for March 16, 2017.

At the hearing held March 16, 2017, Father appeared without counsel and stated he was voluntarily representing himself. Testimony was presented by Petitioners (hereinafter “Mother” and “Stepfather”) and by Father. At the close of the hearing, Father asked permission to submit documentation regarding his daughter who was the subject of a dependency action. His request was granted. Counsel for Mother was allowed to submit documentation as well and she submitted an Affidavit from the Guardian Ad Litem for Father’s daughter, M.S. Father submitted what he believed was refuting documentation regarding his relationship with his daughter.

Following the decision of In Re: Adoption of L.B.M., 2017 PA Lexis 680 (March 28, 2017), the court appointed legal counsel for the subject children on April 18, 2017 and set a hearing for June 13, 2017 to take testimony from the children's counsel. On June 8, 2017, Petitioners' counsel requested a continuance to allow for additional time for Mother to explain to the children the fact that they had a biological father whom they had not seen since infancy. By Order of June 9, 2017, the hearing was rescheduled for August 30, 2017 and Father was directed to file in an affidavit of income to see if he qualified for court appointed counsel. Father failed to do so, even though he had almost three months to comply with the order. Moreover, this court's judicial assistant was directed to contact Father, which she did on June 7, 2017, and directed Father to file an affidavit of income if he wished to be considered for court appointed counsel. That directive to Father was included in the June 9, 2017 Order.

On August 29, 2017 at 4:15 p.m., Father delivered a letter which, was not filed with the Prothonotary, requesting a continuance of the August 31, 2017 hearing and for the court to appoint counsel. The court did not see the request until the morning of August 30, 2017. The court denied the request and proceeded with the scheduled hearing at which Father did not appear. The court issued an Order, following the hearing on August 30, 2017, acknowledging Father's request for a continuance and denying said request. Further, the Order confirmed that the record was now closed. A copy of that order was emailed to Father and counsel for Petitioners and child. On August 31, 2017, Father dropped off another Motion for Continuance, again not filed with the Prothonotary, a request for transcript, a request to proceed in forma pauperis, and a request for appointment of counsel which were left in the mail box outside chambers and discovered near the close of business that day. The Motion for Continuance was denied on September 1, 2017. Father stated on the Motion for Continuance that he sought concurrence from opposing counsel who allegedly concurred. The court contacted opposing counsel who confirmed that they were not contacted and they did not concur. Based on calculations of Father's income for a household of two (Father and his spouse),¹ the court determined that Father did not qualify for court-appointed counsel.

Petitioner's counsel filed an Answer to Father's Motion for Continuance on September 1, 2017 opposing the Motion and reviewing the number of times the court had already granted continuances and opportunities for Father to retain counsel. The Motion was denied by Order of August 30, 2017.

¹ Father alleged his grandmother was living with him which would increase the dependents in the household to 3. Father did not testify at the March 2017 hearing that anyone other than his spouse resided with him. Moreover, Father falsified the Motion for Continuance by claiming he contacted opposing counsel for concurrence. Even with a third member in the household Father would have sufficient means to be disqualified for in forma pauperis status by the court. Moreover, Father's representations and testimony have been determined to be not credible.

Factual History

Mother and Father were married at the time they decided to attempt in vitro fertilization to conceive a child. They were both aware that Father was facing a sentence of 6-12 years for aggravated assault and Father was incarcerated at the time of the twin boys' birth.

The boys were born at 28 weeks gestation and spent a period in the Neonatal Intensive Care unit. At birth, they were given the surname of "S.". When they gained weight, and were able to travel safely, Mother took the babies to see Father at SCI Fayette which was a four and ½ hour trip for her and the babies. She attempted to take the children to see their father every week until November 12, 2009 when Father was rude, loud and disrespectful toward Mother, interrogating her about whether she was sleeping with somebody else. This visit was the culmination for Mother of Father's constant rude behavior toward her and apparent half-hearted interest in the boys.

Mother pursued a divorce and filed for custody. A hearing was held on the custody matter on April 26, 2010 and Father was brought to the court in shackles for the hearing. He was disruptive, kicking the leg of the counsel table with his shackles, making loud noises and crying to the point the judge had the sheriff remove him from the court. The court noted in the Order awarding sole legal and physical custody of the twins to Mother that Father presented no testimony to show the court it was in the children's best interest to visit their father at the state correctional facility.

The divorce was finalized August 31, 2010. Mother attempted to set up visits with the children for Father with his brother Shane and his wife Carrie taking the children to the SCI. Father refused the visits unless Mother was the one to bring the children. She sent photos of the children which she claimed he eventually sent back to her. Father denied sending all of them back to her but apparently sent at least some back. Father never sent gifts, cards, money or any item to Mother for the benefit of the children during his incarceration. He did have family, such as an aunt who is a pastor, and her daughter who would call Mother, but neither sent anything for the children on Father's behalf. Father did call Mother incessantly to the point of harassment. The calls were never about the children but more about what Mother was doing or whom she was seeing. Finally, Mother contacted the head of security at SCI and Father was prohibited from making phone calls or sending letters to Mother. Father had threatened J.S. in one of his letters which prompted the prohibition by correspondence

During the discussion between Mother and Father, Mother stated that Father told her to change the boys' last name. She waited but then eventually filed a Petition for a Name Change, and on June 27, 2012, the boys' surnames were changed to L.

In early 2015, Mother learned Father had been released from prison on parole. On July 5, 2015, J.F., a witness for Mother stated that Father approached him in a threatening manner while he was walking down the street, mentioning the subject children. J.F. is Stepfather, J.S.'s cousin and apparently Father mistook him for Stepfather. J.F. reported the incident to Mother and Stepfather who contacted Father's parole officer who imposed a no contact condition on his parole conditions. Father's parole is set to expire in March of 2020.

Father has had no contact with his children even since his release in early 2015. He claimed he believed the "no contact" condition prohibited contact with his children. He has not filed any petitions to modify the existing custody order. He has sent no gifts, clothing, toys, necessary items, cards, photos or letters to the children either directly or through his family members to keep in contact with the children. Father has a daughter, M. age 15 from a prior relationship and a son, L. who was born to a woman with whom Father had an affair during his marriage to Mother. He contested paternity but learned the child was his son in 2008. L. lives with the parents of his mother's former paramour and Father claimed he is about to have his first visit with his son who has been in psychiatric care. M. has been declared dependent. Father briefly cared for her in kinship care but then removed himself as an available resource. He has sporadic telephone contact with her.

Discussion

Mother presented three witnesses on behalf of her request to involuntarily terminate Father's parental rights. J.F., cousin of Stepfather, presented evidence that he was accosted on the streets of Steelton by Father who believed him to be Stepfather. He described Father as angry and that he mentioned his children. Father attempted to discredit J.F.'s testimony on cross examination but J.F. remained calm and was found to be credible by the court.

Stepfather presented as mature and emotionally balanced. He professed his love for the two subject children and stated he had assumed willingly the role of parent, caretaker and provider for the children whom he loves as his own.

Lastly Mother testified at length how, initially, she stood by Father even to the point of involving herself criminally in his activities. She had wanted so desperately to have children with him that, after a miscarriage, she went through in vitro fertilization resulting in the birth of the twins. The court did find her decision a bit curious as she knew at the time of her artificial insemination that Father was beginning a six year minimum prison sentence. She did bring the children faithfully for a time to see him in prison until his attitude grew more and more disrespectful, jealous and full of anger at her. He did not show concern for the children during the visits. She sent him photos of the boys but when she stopped making the four-hour trip to SCI Fayette, she claimed he sent all the photos back to her. Father admitted returning some photos.

Mother claimed Father eventually told her to change the boys' surnames, which she did, and Father filed no legal objection. Mother also filed for custody when she filed for divorce. While Father appeared at the custody hearing, he was so disruptive that the presiding Judge removed him from the court room and found it to be against the children's best interests to order visitation at the prison. While in prison, after the visitations stopped, Father made no effort to keep in contact with the children. He did make frequent telephone calls to Mother. However, his telephone calls with Mother focused on his relationship with her and not the children. He was rude, vulgar and nasty to the point Mother asked prison security to block Father's calls to her.

When Father was released on parole, he again began harassing Mother and Stepfather to the point a condition was added of "no contact" with Mother and Stepfather. There was no bar to contact with the children, yet Father made no effort either through the court or his family to send cards, give gifts or any necessities the children might need.

Father testified at length, acknowledging his mistakes in life and stating his desire to be a good father. However, his past actions speak volumes as to his failure to follow through with his parental responsibilities with the subject children, as well as with his older daughter and son. He did briefly make himself available as a resource when his daughter was in dependency and he was awarded physical and legal custody in March 2016 of her. However, shortly thereafter, Father wished to be removed as a resource as attested to in an affidavit filed by the Guardian Ad Litem of the daughter, made part of the record in this case. It was on June 9, 2016, two days after the child's birthday, that Father was removed and the child was placed back in the custody of the Dauphin County Children and Youth Service. Father submitted rebuttal documents to the GAL's affidavit which showed Father did make some attempts to be involved but the documents also show that a third party is the child's primary caretaker, not Father.

Father has had no contact with his other son, who is at least 9 years old and with whom he was to have his first contact in March 2017. The child is in the custody of the parents of a former paramour of L.'s mother.

Father does not have a good track record of either parenting or providing for any of his four children. With regard to the subject children, he has had many opportunities to step up as an involved father from the time Mother brought the boys to see him in prison, to the time he was in the custody proceeding and could have behaved maturely and requested visitation. Upon his release on parole in 2015, he again had an opportunity through his extended family to develop a relationship with his sons.

Fortunately for the children, they have had a stable father-figure in Stepfather with whom they have developed an affectionate bond, according to both their guardian ad litem and their court appointed counsel who interviewed the children.

Conclusion of Law

Section 2511 of the Adoption Act requires a bifurcated analysis which focuses initially on the conduct of the parent whose parental rights are being challenged. If the court and, only if the court determines the parent's conduct satisfies the statutory grounds for termination delineated in Section 2511(a), then the court may engage in the analysis pursuant to Section 2511(b) regarding the needs and welfare of the child under the standard of best interests of the child. In re L.M., 923 A.2d 505, 511 (Pa. Super. 2007)

In terminating the rights of a parent to their child, the court must give primary consideration to the developmental, physical and emotional needs and welfare of the child. 23 Pa. C.S.A. § 2511(b). Intangibles such as love, comfort security, and stability are involved when inquiring about the needs and welfare of the child. The court must also discern the nature and status of the parent-child bond, paying close attention to the effect on the child of permanently severing the bond. In re C.P., 901 A.2d 516, 520 (Pa. Super. Ct. 2006) (internal citations omitted).

Overall, the "burden of proof is on the party seeking termination to establish by clear and convincing evidence the existence of grounds for doing so." In re Z.P., 994 A.2d 1108, 1116 (Pa. Super.

Ct. 2010) (citing In re Adoption of A.C.H., 803 A.2d 224, 228 (Pa. Super. Ct. 2002)) (internal quotations omitted).

Petitioners have met their burden of proof to show that Father has made himself purposefully absent from his children's lives for well beyond the statutory period of six months. Even discounting his period of incarceration as an obstacle in his having meaningful contact with the children, Father was paroled in early 2015. He blamed the "no contact with Mother and Stepfather" condition of his parole as the impediment in his having a relationship with his two boys. However, Father has a spouse and extended family who could have acted as his surrogates to bring gifts, photographs, arranged telephone calls for father or visits. Father could have filed for partial custody rights of the children. He chose not to, as he chose ultimately not to be the custodial parent for his other son and daughter. Therefore, Father has evidenced a settled purpose of relinquishing parental claim to his children and has failed to perform his parental duties.

In the case of In re Adoption of Z.T., No.322 WDA 2014 (Superior Court-Non-Precedential), the father argued mother had filed two erroneous Protection from Abuse Petitions against him and feared to have contact with her, and thus with his son. The Superior Court rejected that argument and affirmed the lower court's termination of his parental rights. Likewise, this court rejects Father's claim that his parole conditions were the cause of his failure to perform his parental duties.

Moving on to the best interest analysis, the children with the benefit of both a guardian ad litem (hereinafter "GAL") and appointed counsel expressed their bond, affection and love for Stepfather. They have no recollection of Father as they were infants when the visits to the prison ceased.

As stated in In re B., N.M., 856 A.2d 847, 855 (Pa. Super.2004), the Superior Court opined that:

A child needs love, protection, guidance, and support. These needs, physical and emotional, cannot be met by a merely passive interest in the development of the child. Thus, this court has held that the parental obligation is a positive duty which requires affirmative performance

This affirmative duty encompasses more than a financial obligation; it requires continuing interest in the child and a genuine effort to maintain communication and association with the child.

Because a child needs more than a benefactor, parental duty requires that a parent exert himself to take and maintain a place of importance in the child's life.

Parental duty requires that the parent act affirmatively with good faith interest and effort, and not yield to every problem, in order to maintain the parent-child relationship to the best of his or her ability, even in difficult circumstances. A parent must utilize all available resources to preserve the parental relationship, and must exercise reasonable firmness in resisting obstacles placed in the path of maintaining the parent-child relationship. Parental rights are not preserved by waiting for a more suitable or convenient time to perform one's parental responsibilities while other provide the child with [the child's] physical and emotional needs.

In cases where there is no evidence of a bond between a parent and child, it is reasonable to infer that no bond exists. In re K.Z.S., 946 A.2d 753, 762-63 (Pa. Super. 2008). Thus, this court finds no emotional bond existed between the subject children and Father. A permanent severing of the legal status between Father and the children is in their best interest and will cause no emotional harm to them. Furthermore, there is a deep bond between the children and Stepfather who has taken on all parental duties of a father for almost the entire life of the children. Both the GAL and the children's legal counsel confirmed that the children expressed their wish to be adopted by Stepfather.

Therefore, the court finds that Father has evidenced a settled purpose of relinquishing his parental rights to both M.D.L. and M.E.L. for a period in excess of six months; that the children will not be harmed by the severance of Father's parental right and that, for all of the reasons stated above, it is in the best interest of the children to grant Petitioner's Petition to Involuntarily Terminate Parental Rights of Father.

Accordingly, the court issues the following Order.

ORDER

AND NOW, this 6th day of September 2017, after hearing on the Petition for Involuntary Termination, it is HEREBY ORDERED that the rights of the Natural Father M.S. III, are terminated as to said Child, M.E.L. and the Step-Father, J.L.S., is free to proceed with the adoption of M.E.L.
