Garland v. PennDOTMotor Vehicles - Driver's License Suspension - Implied Consent

Petitioner challenged the decision of the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation (PennDOT) Bureau of Driver Licensing to suspend her driver's license for her refusal to submit to a blood test.

1. Section 1547 of the Pennsylvania Vehicle Code, commonly referred to as the "Implied Consent Law," authorizes suspension of the driving privileges of a licensee for a period of twelve (12) months when the licensee is arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol and the licensee refuses a police officer's request to submit to chemical testing. 75 Pa.C.S. § 1547(b)(1)(i).

2. States cannot impose criminal penalties upon individuals who refuse to submit to a warrantless blood test because such penalties violate an individual's Fourth Amendment (as incorporated into the Fourteenth Amendment) right to be free from unreasonable searches and seizures. Birchfield v. North Dakota, 136 S. Ct. 2160, at 2185-2186 (2016).

3. The loss of driving privileges does not amount to a criminal penalty. Permission to operate a motor vehicle on the highways of Pennsylvania is a privilege subject to such conditions as the legislature may see fit to impose. Department of Transportation v. Wysocki, 535 A.2d 77 (Pa. 1987). One of those conditions is that individuals arrested for Driving Under the Influence must consent to a chemical test or have their driving privileges suspended for at least a year. The administrative penalty of license suspension upon chemical refusal is civil in nature.

4. The result of a criminal DUI proceeding and the legality of the underlying traffic stop are not relevant to an appeal of a civil license suspension matter based on a licensee's refusal to submit to a chemical test in accordance with the Implied Consent Law. Regula v. Com., Dept. of Transportation, Bureau of Driver Licensing, 146 A.3d 836, 843 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2016)(emphasis in original).

TRIAL COURT MEMORANDUM OPINION

Currently before this Court is Petitioner Jennifer Garland's ("Petitioner") challenge to the decision of the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation ("PennDOT") Bureau of Driver Licensing ("the Department") to suspend her driver's license for twelve (12) months pursuant to Section 1547(b)(1)(i) of the Vehicle Code, 75 Pa.C.S. § 1547(b)(1)(i). For the reasons set forth below, we reinstate the suspension of Petitioner's license and deny her appeal.

I. Background.

On September 19, 2016, at about 12:13 AM, Pennsylvania State Trooper Nicholas Zulick (“Trooper Zulick” or “the Trooper”) while on patrol observed Petitioner at her disabled vehicle on SR 433 near the US 322 off ramp. Based upon Trooper Zulick’s observations as well as Petitioner’s performance in a field sobriety test, the Trooper decided to place Petitioner under arrest for Driving Under the Influence (“DUI”), and he transported Petitioner to Central Booking for chemical testing of her blood. There, Trooper Zulick read to Petitioner PennDOT’s implied consent form DL-26B, which warned Petitioner that if she refused to submit to a blood test, her driving privilege would be suspended for at least twelve (12) months. Despite the Trooper’s reading of form DL-26B, Petitioner refused to submit to a blood test.

On or about September 29, 2016, the Department sent a letter to Petitioner, notifying her that because her refusal to submit to blood testing violated provisions of the Implied Consent Law as contained in the Pennsylvania Motor Vehicle Code, 75 Pa.C.S. § 1547, she would be subjected to a twelve (12)-month driver’s license suspension effective November 3, 2016. On October 21, 2016, Petitioner, through counsel, filed in this Court an appeal of her license suspension. On October 24, 2016, we issued an order scheduling an appeals hearing in this matter for January 26, 2017 and ordering that the Department’s impending suspension of Petitioner’s driver’s license be stayed pending this Court’s final decision in this matter.

The only witness present at the January 26, 2017 appeals hearing was Trooper Zulick, who appeared on behalf of the Department and briefly testified as to his encounter with Petitioner on September 19, 2016. The Trooper’s testimony confirmed that he read Petitioner the contents and warning comprising form DL-26B and that when the Trooper asked Petitioner to submit to a blood test, Petitioner refused. The rest of the relatively brief hearing was primarily comprised of oral argument by each party (through their attorneys) in support of their respective positions in this matter. At the close of the hearing, we directed each party to file a brief or memorandum of law in support of their respective positions. The Department filed a memorandum of law on February 14, 2017, and Petitioner filed a brief on February 15, 2017. Having reviewed the Department’s memorandum, the Petitioner’s brief, and the law applicable to this case, we find nothing that would justify enjoining the Department’s suspension of Petitioner’s license, and we hold that the suspension shall be upheld.

II. Discussion.

Section 1547 of the Pennsylvania Vehicle Code, commonly referred to as the “Implied Consent Law,” authorizes suspension of the driving privileges of a licensee for a period of twelve (12) months when the licensee is arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol and the licensee refuses a police officer’s request to submit to chemical testing. 75 Pa.C.S. § 1547(b)(1)(i). In addition, pursuant to Section 1547, “[i]t shall be the duty of the police officer to inform the person that: (i) the person's operating privilege will be suspended upon refusal to submit to chemical testing; and (ii) if the person refuses to submit to chemical testing, upon conviction or plea for violating section 3802(a)(1), the person will be subject to the penalties provided in section 3804(c) (relating to penalties).” 75 Pa.C.S. § 1547(b)(2)(i)-(ii). Section 3804 provides for enhanced criminal penalties for an individual found guilty of violation of Section 3802(a)(1) (driving under the influence of alcohol, general impairment), if that individual refused a breath or blood test. These penalties are the same as for those found guilty of violation Section 3802(c), driving with the highest rate of alcohol.

The original DL-26 form used by the State Police when arresting a suspected DUI offender included the warning of enhanced criminal penalties for refusal to submit to chemical testing, as required by Section 1547(b)(2)(ii). On June 23, 2016, however, the United States Supreme Court issued its decision in the case of Birchfield v. North Dakota, 136 S. Ct. 2160 (2016). In Birchfield, the Supreme Court held that states cannot impose criminal penalties upon individuals who refuse to submit to a warrantless blood test because such penalties violate an individual’s Fourth Amendment (as incorporated into the Fourteenth Amendment) right to be free from unreasonable searches and seizures. Birchfield, 136 S. Ct. at 2185-2186. After Birchfield, the Pennsylvania District Attorneys Association requested that the Department amend the DL-26 “O’Connell Warnings” form by eliminating the warning that refusal of a blood test could lead to criminal penalties that was required by 75 Pa.C.S. § 1547(b)(2)(ii), while maintaining the warning with regard to loss of operating privileges as required by Section 1547(b)(2)(i). The District Attorneys made this request out of a concern that the continued use of the 1547(b)(2)(ii) warning could result in the suppression of evidence due to the Birchfield decision. The Department complied with the request and eliminated the language pertaining to criminal penalties for refusal to take a chemical test, with the revised form re-named as “DL-26B”.¹

Also after Birchfield, the Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania held that Sections 3803 and 3804 of the Vehicle Code imposed criminal penalties for refusal to submit to a blood test, and that a defendant driver could not be deemed to have consented to a warrantless blood test after being informed that refusal to submit to such a test could result in enhanced criminal penalties. Commonwealth v. Evans, 2016 WL 7369120 (Pa. Super. Dec. 20, 2016). On January 31, 2017, the Commonwealth Court issued its decision in the case of Commonwealth v. Giron, 2017 WL 410267, which held that “pursuant to Birchfield, in the absence of a warrant or exigent circumstances justifying a search, a defendant who refuses to provide a blood sample when requested by police is not subject to the enhanced penalties provided in 75 Pa.C.S.A. §§ 3803–3804.” The enhanced criminal penalties of Section 3804(c) are, therefore, now deemed unconstitutional.

Although the imposition of enhanced criminal penalties, such as fines or jail sentences, for failing to submit to chemical testing is clearly unconstitutional in light of Birchfield, case precedent clearly begs the conclusion that the loss of driving privileges does not amount to a criminal penalty that would be prohibited by Birchfield. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has held that permission to operate a motor vehicle on the highways of this Commonwealth is a privilege subject to such conditions as the legislature may see fit to impose. Department of Transportation v. Wysocki, 535 A.2d 77 (Pa. 1987). One of those conditions is that individuals arrested for Driving Under the Influence must consent to a chemical test or have their operating privileges suspended for at least a year, pursuant to the Implied Consent Law. 75 Pa.C.S. § 1547(b)(1)(i), supra. In Birchfield, the Supreme Court of the United States analyzed implied consent laws in light of the Fourth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania had previously held that the General Assembly did not intend for the Fourth Amendment to apply to our Implied Consent Law. See Glass v. Department of Transportation, Bureau of Traffic Safety, 333 A.2d 768 (Pa. 1975).² In Glass, the Court held that the only germane considerations were whether the test was administered by a qualified person on appropriate equipment, and whether the arrest was made by a police officer with reasonable grounds to believe that an individual was operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Id. at 771-772.

Relying on Glass, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court subsequently held that the Fourth Amendment, particularly its exclusionary rule, should not apply in administrative license suspension hearings following a refusal to submit to testing, stating that “[t]he basis for employing the exclusionary rule in Fourth Amendment situations is to deter police officials from engaging in improper conduct for the purpose of obtaining criminal convictions. Terry v. Ohio, 392 U.S. 1, 88 S.Ct. 1868, 20 L.Ed.2d 889 (1968); Linkletter v. Walker, 381 U.S. 618, 85 S.Ct. 1731, 14 L.Ed.2d 601 (1965); Mapp v. Ohio, 367 U.S. 643, 81 S.Ct. 1684, 6 L.Ed.2d 1081 (1961).” Com. Dep. Of Transportation v. Wysocki, 535 A.2d 77, 79 (Pa. 1987). The Court determined the legality of an arrest for driving under the influence was immaterial with regard to a license suspension proceeding for refusal to submit to chemical testing, as the language of Section 1547(b)(1) does not require that an arrest be lawful or constitutional but only that such an arrest be based upon reasonable grounds. Wysocki, 535 A.2d at 78-79 (citing Glass, supra).

More recently, the Commonwealth Court has noted that our courts have consistently followed and cited Wysocki for “a variety of principles distinguishing between the civil license suspension and the criminal DUI proceedings.” Regula v. Com., Dept. of Transportation, Bureau of Driver Licensing, 146 A.3d 836, 844 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2016) (citations omitted). The Regula opinion noted that both our Supreme Court and the Commonwealth Court have consistently held that “the result of a criminal DUI proceeding and the legality of the underlying traffic stop are not relevant to an appeal of a civil license suspension matter based on a licensee's refusal to submit to a chemical test in accordance with the Implied Consent Law.” Regula 146 A.2d at 843 (emphasis in original).

We find that our Supreme Court’s reasoning in Wysocki and subsequent cases is consistent with the structure of Section 1547(b)(2). Section 1547(b)(2)(i) describes the required warning regarding the administrative operating privileges suspension the Department will impose upon notice of a refusal, while Section 1547(b)(2)(ii) describes the consequences of refusing in a DUI prosecution, that being enhanced criminal penalties. Respectively, these two subsections represent the related but distinct civil and criminal aspects of refusing. Furthermore, we note that the Birchfield opinion itself was clear to state that it did not have an effect on the civil consequences for refusing to submit to a blood test.³

The events leading to the license suspension from which Petitioner now appeals occurred on September 19, 2017, subsequent to the Supreme Court’s decision in Birchfield. Thus, had Petitioner been subjected to enhanced criminal penalties for failing to submit to a blood test, or if she had been read the warnings pertaining to the enhanced criminal penalties that were included in original form DL-26, she may have had a claim for a Birchfield violation. No such facts are alleged here however. Given that the license suspension from which Petitioner appeals merely amounts to a civil penalty upon which Birchfield has no impact, we are constrained to ask what constitutional harm is being alleged by Petitioner that would justify enjoining the Department's suspension.

Petitioner has not raised an issue with regard to the blood test (as she refused to be tested), nor does she dispute that Trooper Zulick had reasonable grounds for her arrest. Petitioner has raised two main arguments in support of her appeal. First, Petitioner suggested at the appeals hearing that since the new DL-26B form (which was read to Petitioner) only contains that warning pertaining to the potential license suspension and omits the warning pertaining to enhanced criminal penalties, this violates the language of Section 1547, which mandates that both warnings be given. Second, Petitioner, in the memorandum in support of her suspension appeal, argues that revised form DL-26B does not solve the "Birchfield problem," asserting as follows:

PennDOT's revised DL-26 form [DL-26B] does not solve the "Birchfield problem" because it does not address the fact that Birchfield draws a distinction as to what consequences may ensue for refusal to submit to a breath test and what consequences may ensue for refusal to submit to a blood draw. No jurisdiction may impose enhanced criminal penalties for refusal to submit to a blood draw. Any jurisdiction may, on the other hand, impose enhanced criminal penalties for refusal to submit to a breath test. Pennsylvania's implied consent law with its umbrella term "chemical testing," which encompasses both breath and blood testing, does not account for this distinction. Revised DL-26 [form DL-26B] does not account for this distinction either.

Petitioner's Brief, at 5.

We find both of Petitioner's arguments to be inapposite, and we do not see how they advance her position that her license suspension should be enjoined. With respect to Petitioner's first argument, if the Department and our police officers were to comport with Petitioner's suggestion that both of the warnings mandated by Section 1547 must still be given to suspected DUI offenders, this would require them to violate the holding of Birchfield as well as the United States Constitution. In light of the Birchfield decision, the provision of Section 1547 pertaining to warnings of enhanced penalties for refusal to submit to chemical testing is clearly unconstitutional, and, therefore, we do not see how the Department's failure to comport with said unconstitutional provision is of any assistance to Petitioner's position in this matter. It is a well-settled principle that all state laws are subservient to the United States Constitution, and all new police officers are required to take an oath to defend and uphold the United States Constitution before engaging in their duties. Thus, if we were to issue a ruling requiring police officers to continue comporting with Section 1547 by warning individuals of enhanced penalties for refusal to submit to chemical testing, we would in effect be requiring the officers to violate the very oath to the Constitution that they must take before engaging in their duties. We refuse to issue a ruling that would place our police officers in such a difficult conundrum.

With respect to Petitioner's second argument, even if Petitioner is correct in asserting that the new DL-26B form does not cure the unconstitutional defects of Section 1547 as it pertains to chemical testing and enhanced criminal penalties, we do not see how such defects would lend support to Petitioner's appeal. Petitioner's appeal has nothing to do with the enhanced-penalties provision of Section 1547, nor does it have to do with the warning associated with the enhanced penalties that was previously contained in the old DL-26 form. Petitioner is merely appealing the suspension of her license. With respect to Petitioner's suspension of a license for failure to submit to a chemical test, the Commonwealth parties involved in this matter did all that they were required to do according to Section 1547. The revised form DL-26B, promulgated by the Department, still contains language warning Petitioner that her license would be suspended for a minimum of twelve (12) months for failing to submit to chemical testing, and Trooper Zulick reviewed this form with Petitioner prior to her refusal to submit to a blood test. When Petitioner refused to submit to the blood test upon Trooper Zulick's request, the Department informed her that her license would be suspended for twelve (12) months; this is the exact penalty which Petitioner was warned that she would receive if she refused to submit to a chemical test, as she did. All in all, it appears that, in essence, Petitioner is attempting to evade the legislatively mandated administrative penalty of license suspension upon chemical refusal, administrative penalties which are civil in nature and are not prohibited by the Birchfield decision. Such attempt to evade this civil penalty must not be successful.

III. Conclusion.

In light of the aforementioned, we find that there is no reason to enjoin the suspension of Petitioner's license. Accordingly, we enter the following:
