A New Year Begins
Jonathan W. Kunkel

Every January at the Dauphin County Bar Association, a new President is installed to guide the Board and the association through another year. The only difference that 2013 brings for me is that I am the person who has been chosen to fulfill this role. While I am honored and thrilled to have been selected to fill this position, this new role is certainly not without challenges, the greatest of which for me is authoring this column every month. While I am aware of the perception that “no one reads the President’s message,” I know from listening to many of you throughout the years that this is simply not true. Whether you read these articles every month to stay connected to the association’s activities as described by the President or to see if there is a “train wreck” buried within the page, my goal is to focus on the former and to hopefully avoid the latter.

I believe that the goal of every President is to create informative, interesting and hopefully, occasionally humorous articles of relevance to the membership. During the American Bar Association’s Bar Leadership Institute that Liz, our spectacular Executive Director, and I attended this past March, the pending authorship of these articles was already on my mind. While participating in a seminar on how to approach your year as the President, I made the comment that, “I am already stressing about writing the President’s message” and asked for suggestions. I could tell by the nervous laughter that followed my question from the hundred and fifty attendees, that I certainly was not alone in my concern and apprehension. The best advice that I received from the panel is to relax, let your personality shine through and above all, be brief. As all of you who know me are aware, that last part is certainly a “work in progress” with me and something that Liz will no doubt have to offer her assistance.

Before I go any further outlining plans for the coming year, I would be remiss if I did not offer my thanks and congratulations to Brett Woodburn, the 2012 President. He served our association this past year with pride, conviction and distinction for which I am truly thankful. Brett was always there to offer his congratulations, thoughts and kind words about the association, our many members and, of course, himself. (He would be disappointed if I did not take at least one shot at him in this article.) As such, I encourage you to attend the President’s Dinner Dance at the West Shore Country Club on Saturday, February 9th to celebrate and honor Brett’s dedication and service this past year as our President.

Each month in this article, I plan to discuss topics that highlight the great diversity that exists within our organization. Not only will these articles focus on gender, racial and sexual orientation diversity that is a vibrant part of the DCBA, I will also look at our wide diversity within our many practice areas and sectors. As the first public sector attorney to become the President of our organization in thirteen years, and, to my knowledge, the first Governor’s Office of General Counsel attorney to serve in this role, I am particularly sensitive to the lack of bar association involvement by public sector attorneys. Of course, there are no easy and quick solutions to creating and maintaining diversity within an organization, so look to all of you to do everything that you can to help me to promote and foster diversity within the DCBA. In my opinion, the only way that we can remain a viable and strong organization is to celebrate our differences through coming together.

This past year, the DCBA, with the assistance of the American Bar Association, conducted a comprehensive survey of our members, in which an unprecedented number of you participated. Many suggestions and comments came out of this process and the ideas shared will be something that Liz, myself and the Board of Directors will focus on throughout this and in upcoming years. One of the major topics that was raised by many of you during the survey was the DCBA website. I am pleased to announce that my primary initiative this year will be to update, revamp and revitalize our website. To coordinate this effort, I have asked Immediate Past President Brett Woodburn to chair the technology committee. Brett, to no one’s surprise, has gladly accepted this challenge and work towards this endeavor has already begun. My ultimate goal is to have the new website up and running by the time I “hand the gavel” over to President-Elect John Sheridan in January 2014.

For those of you who are still reading, I invite you to become more active in this terrific organization of ours and to reach out to me with your ideas and thoughts – and, of course, suggestions for future topics for me to include in this column – they will be greatly appreciated.

DCBA ANNUAL AWARDS

Several weeks ago at the 2013 DCBA Annual Membership Meeting, awards were presented to some very deserving members. Each year the Bar presents the Honorable Clarence Morrison Award, the Pro Bono Award and the Skarlatos Award to members of our bar who have done exemplary work in certain areas. The recipients for 2012 were Dianne I. Nichols, Steve Krone and Brett Woodburn. Dianne has been an active member of our Bar for many years but has devoted much of her effort to promoting and expanding the diversity within the Bar. Her tireless work in this area made the choice to present her with the Honorable Clarence Morrison Award an easy choice.

Steve Krone accepted the Pro Bono Award and is truly the standard-bearer when it comes to pro bono. Despite the fact that Steve is now “retired”, he is still in the office most days working, helping and mentoring pro bono clients and young attorneys in his pursuit to provide justice to as many clients as possible that would otherwise be unrepresented.

Brett Woodburn has been active force in our Bar Association since his days as a “young” lawyer. He has served on committees, attended countless events over the years, rallied the troops for all kinds of causes and ended up as the most recent DCBA President. Receiving the Skarlatos Award from past chair of the YLS, Kim Selemba, was a fitting tribute to his work with the Young Lawyers and to our Bar Association.

DCBA BOARD MEMBER WINS CCBA AWARD

DCBA Board member John W. Frommer received the 2012 Cumberland County Bar Association Pro Bono Award at their recent Annual Meeting. He is pictured here with Bret Shaffer, another of the CCBA recipients for pro bono service. John represented 11 clients in family law referrals over the year and his area of expertise is actually Worker’s Compensation law. John received this honor from the DCBA in 2007 and is clearly committed to providing this service to the community on an on-going basis. Congratulations to John for this honor and we are pleased to have him as a new director here at the DCBA.
Congratulations to Dianne Nichols winner of the 2012 Clarence C. Morrison Award

Congratulations to Steve Krone winner of the 2012 DCBA Pro Bono Lawyer of the Year.

Congratulations to Brett M. Woodburn, recipient of the 2012 Angelo Skarlatos Award
CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR 2013 DCBA OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS

AN ONLINE RESOURCE FOR PRO BONO LAWYERS

We invite you to try a free online resource for pro bono lawyers - PaProbono.net. Pennsylvania Legal Aid Network maintains the website designed to serve as a resource for pro bono attorneys, legal aid attorneys, public defenders, and others interested in increasing access to justice. It is a collaboration of legal aid programs, bar associations and law firms that contribute resources and materials to enhance the representation of indigent persons in need of legal assistance. In particular, the Civil Law Practice Area contains information and resources relating to the non-criminal law including family law. To access or contribute resources, you must join the practice area. Go to PaProbono.net and join for free.

One of the free resources is a calendar of training events – some of which are free webinars. For example you can register for a free Webcast “Representing the Pro Bono Client: Effective Written Advocacy” on March 7 at Noon. The Webinar will teach new attorneys and seasoned professionals effective writing techniques to assist pro bono clients with a variety of legal issues. Learn the tools to draft concise complaints and briefs to help your pro bono clients assert their legal rights and win their cases!

ANOTHER PRO BONO OPPORTUNITY / PRO BONO ATTORNEYS NEEDED FOR HOMELESS VETERANS

Pro bono attorneys are needed for the Homeless Veterans Stand Down on Saturday, February 23 from 10 to 5 PM at the Harrisburg Military Post (Armory) located at 14th and Calder Streets, Harrisburg.

Stand Downs are typically one to three day events providing services to homeless military veterans such as food, shelter, clothing, health screenings, VA and Social Security benefits counseling, and referrals to a variety of other necessary services, such as housing, employment and substance abuse treatment. They are collaborative events, coordinated between local VAs, other government agencies, and community agencies. For more information go to: http://www.va.gov/homeless/standdown.asp.

The Harrisburg Stand Down organizers contacted the Bar Association to request our participation. Therefore, pro bono attorneys are needed to staff a Legal Information Table on Feb 23 during these time slots: 1) 10 to Noon; 2) Noon to 2 PM; 3) 2 to 4 PM; and 4) 4 to 5 PM. We hope to have four attorneys for each time slot (which ensures that at least 3 will usually be there – as one could have a sick child, etc.).

We will have a table and chairs for the attorneys (and the folks they speak with) to use. We will bring some simple brochures on legal topics (Custody, Expungement, Landlord/Tenant, etc.). Much of the information is also online via www.PaLawHelp.org, so attorneys could use that on their smart phones. The event could be compared to “Ask a Lawyer” at Strawberry Square or our Pro Bono Homeless Outreach Project. The attorneys would help point the veteran in the right direction but would not represent the veterans.

Since it is not a MidPenn Legal Services program, attorneys are not covered by MidPenn’s malpractice insurance. Please contact Sandy Ballard (232-7536 or sandy@dcba-pa.org) for more information or to sign up.
